Disable The Replication Subsystem

The embedded database used by TapeTrack uses transactional protection. This means that as updates are applied to the underlying database, they are first written to a log file.

Disabling the replication subsystem will allow the database to automatically remove any log files that are no longer active.

Disable The Replication Subsystem Via TMSS10ServerHelper

Disable The Replication Subsystem Via Registry Edit

From:
https://docs.tapetrack.com/ - TapeTrack Documentation

Permanent link:
https://docs.tapetrack.com/technote/disable_replication?rev=1583880542

Last update: 2025/01/21 22:07